Private hybrid cloud, built for professionals

Professional service firms across legal, accounting, finance, consulting and their corporate counterparts in corporate legal, accounting and governance departments, are taking advantage of cloud-based solutions to achieve new levels of productivity and agility while reducing capital expense, project complexity, and ongoing cost of ownership. The mission-critical nature of managing client work product, coupled with large file sizes and the need for integration between work product management and other professional tools introduce unique requirements for how these cloud solutions must be architected and delivered. The wrong cloud solution can result in poor system performance, broken workflows, and dissatisfied users.

iManage Cloud—The hybrid cloud built for professionals

iManage Cloud is a hybrid cloud service, delivering the industry's leading work product management capabilities with scalable, reliable performance and features specifically designed for professionals:

- Highly secure: every customer has their own private cloud with data segregation (no co-mingling with other customers), encryption in flight and at rest.

- Hybrid: Full control and functionality for work product stored in the cloud and on premises. Move content between each based on client, practice area or office location.

- Full functionality, whether connected or disconnected, so professionals are never without access to critical work product.

- Fully integrated at the desktop with other key tools used by professionals including document comparison, metadata scrubbing, ethical walls, time and billing.

- Optimized for large files and complex searches with solid state storage devices. Bandwidth in the iManage cloud is never throttled, unlike public cloud solutions and many SaaS platforms.
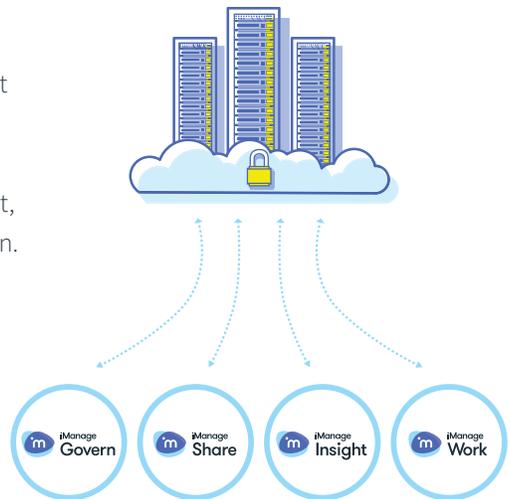

iManage Work, iManage Share, iManage Insight and iManage Govern are securely deployed in a private cloud. Professionals can easily access, share, collaborate and manage information with each other as well as with clients, partner firms and outside consultants.

Market-leading functionality for organizations of all sizes

iManage Cloud delivers the industry's leading, proven work product management solution to organizations of all size, for a low monthly subscription fee. iManage is the choice of professionals, many of whom move between organizations and ask for it by name. Now you can have this proven comprehensive functionality—document management, email management, knowledge management, enterprise search, records management and information governance—in a scalable, easy to maintain cloud model. Don't compromise on functionality or user experience.

Maintain control over your information—and your user experience

iManage Cloud is supported by data centers across North America, Europe, and Asia-Pacific (Fall 2016). This enables organizations to store information in the geographic location that is best for governance and performance.

Unlike SaaS solutions, with the iManage Cloud you are in control over when your system is taken down for scheduled maintenance or upgrades. Minimize work disruptions during key projects and deals, and upgrade your software on your schedule, when you and your user population are ready—not on your vendors forced schedule.

Chart your path to the cloud

The hybrid architecture allows you to control your path to the cloud. You can begin with all information in the cloud, or with work product managed mostly on premise, and migrate specific practice areas or offices to the cloud in a phased approach. iManage Cloud is the only solution that enables users to access all work product—whether in the cloud or on premises in a single interface. No other system today offers full functionality at the desktop and this ability to have information on premise or in the cloud.

Existing iManage clients can move to the cloud with great ease. A standard deployment model enables organizations to migrate their current iManage experience to the cloud, achieving a transition without any business disruption. There's no need for any data conversion and the iManage user interface remains the same, so the entire move to the cloud is completely transparent to the end users with absolutely no re-training required.
